

Metropolitan's Kent Will Open Musical Series Here Sunday

Concert To Begin
At Four O'Clock,
Admission Free

Arthur Kent, young baritone of the Metropolitan Opera association, will present the inaugural program of the twelfth season of Sunday Afternoon Musicals at 4 p. m., Sunday, in Memorial Hall.

Although Kent did not give his first recital in New York until March, 1939, he has been accorded national recognition as a musical artist. A native New Yorker, he started his musical career as a member of the Glee club of Cornell university, where he was enrolled as a medical student. He entered the major concert field by way of oratorio, musical comedy, opera, and radio.

Won National Contest

In competition with hundreds of young singers from all parts of the country, Kent won the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air award this year, and he will make his formal debut with the company in December.

His earlier experience consists of participation in the choir of St. Thomas' church in New York; the cast of "I Married an Angel" during its entire run on Broadway; the St. Louis Municipal Opera company; and the New York Oratorio society and the schola Cantorum as soloist.

Concert Is Free

As in past seasons, the concert will be open without charge, to students, faculty, and friends of the University. Prof. R. D. McIntyre, chairman of the concert committee, announced.

Accompanied by John Quincy Bass, Cincinnati, Kent will present the following recital:

SOCIETY TO HEAR TALK ON NYLON, RAYON, VINYLON

Illustrated Lecture
Will Be Given
At Open Meeting

Dr. James Renwick Winthrow, head of the department of chemical engineering, Ohio State university, will address the Lexington section of the American Chemical society, at 7:30 p. m., Monday in room 214 Kastle hall. Dr. J. L. Gabbard, secretary of the society, announced yesterday.

In his talk on "Some Production Problems of the New Chemical Fibers—Rayon; Nylon; and Vinyon. Spun Fibrous Glass," Dr. Winthrow will discuss the economic and engineering aspects of these new "chemical fibers," with special and detailed account of the Industrial Rayon Corporation's new Viscose Rayon plant with which he was actively associated as a consulting engineer during the early stages. Many slides and samples will be used to illustrate the lecture.

With the advent of "Nylon" and "Vinyon," during the current year much popular interest has been aroused in the methods of their manufacture as well as their physical and chemical properties—all of which Dr. Winthrow will explain. Dr. Winthrow received a Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry from the University of Pennsylvania in 1909. He later returned to that University as holder of the John Harrison scholarship in chemistry and received his Ph. D. degree in 1905. Later in 1935, Dr. Winthrow was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Science by Geneva (Pennsylvania) college. Since 1923 he has been professor and chairman of the chemical engineering of Ohio State university.

Has Wide Experience

In addition to his academic duties, Dr. Winthrow has been consulting engineer and lecturer on explosives to the Ground School, Signal Corps, U. S. Army; a member of the U. S. Naval Consulting board during the World War; and a member of the Advisory committee of the Chemical Warfare service.

Preceding the address, a dinner will be served at 6 o'clock in the Student Union building. Reservations for the dinner must be made with the secretary by noon Monday, Doctor Gabbard said. The dinner and meeting are open to the public.

Directory Changes

Students are asked to note the following changes in the Student Directory. It is suggested that this list be placed on the blank page opposite page 54 of the directory. These changes were turned in to the Registrar's office too late for inclusion in the book.

UK Draftee No. 1 Gets Questionnaire For Conscription

William Bailey Cherry, graduate assistant in bacteriology who was the first University student to hold a number drawn in the conscription lottery, yesterday received one of the "draft" questionnaires sent out by the Fayette county draft boards.

The questionnaire booklet, containing one page of instructions, one to be filled out by the board, and six of questions for the draftee, is to be returned in five days or an extension of time requested.

Before being assigned to duty the men will be classed in one of four groups—those fit for immediate service; those engaged in necessary industries, those having dependents; and those unfit to serve. Each man is permitted to class himself in one of the four, but the final decision is reserved for the local draft board.

Questions in the form include those regarding the name, education, employment, earnings, agricultural employment, dependents, net cost of maintaining home, citizenship, court record and military service of the man filling out the questionnaire.

Special questions are prepared in the form for ministers and students of the ministry, conscientious objectors, students of the ministry, members of the nation's armed forces, and certain public officials, including those of the public health service, governors, members of legislatures and judges.

Room is left on the final page for minutes of action by various boards, and appeals by the Draftee.

Deadline Is Set For K-Book Posts

Applications for the positions of YWCA editor and business manager of the 1941-42 K-book must be filed by 5 p. m. Monday, at the YWCA office. It was announced yesterday.

Geiger Will Speak

"The Theater" will be the subject of a talk by Clarence Geiger, technical director of Guilford, to members of the Dutch Lunch club at noon today at the Maxwell Street church.

KENDALL PLACED ON PROBATION BY COMMITTEE

Cooper's Approval
Closes Action
On Co-op Case

Acting President Thomas Poe Cooper yesterday approved recommendations of the Student Government judicial committee asking that George Herman Kendall, former business manager of the dissolved Student's Cooperative association, be placed on a year's probation and refund coop dues or suffer expulsion from the University.

The judicial committee recommended the action after deliberating on a report referred to it by the legislature after investigation by the standards committee. Culminating the inquiry into the co-op, the approved recommendations are:

1) That George Herman Kendall be placed upon probation for one year.

2) That the Student Standards committee designate three days (November 13, 14, and 15) for registration of all persons who desire refund of the 50 cents paid as membership fees in the so-called Student's Cooperative, and also of all persons who present legitimate evidence of claims against the so-called cooperative or of the debts incurred by Kendall on behalf of the cooperative.

3) That George Herman Kendall shall give full payment for this refund to the Student standards committee before noon of November 20, 1940.

4) That in the event that Kendall gives the aforementioned sum to the Standards committee before noon of November 20, 1940, the committee shall restore the money to the individuals who have made a claim for it.

5) That in the event that Kendall does not pay this money to the committee before the specified time, he shall be dropped from the University of Kentucky immediately.

Standards Committee members will be in Room 127 of the Union building on November 13, 14, and 15, with Kendall to register persons who have some legal claim for refunds. Those coop members who have received some benefit from the organization are not subject to refunds, said Ben Sublett, committee chairman, who added that the committee makes "no guarantees" to refund the money, "but hopes to get it all back."

The standards committee will meet at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon in Room 127 of the Union.

New Staff Members Sought For Wildcat

Anyone wishing to write or work on the staff of the Wildcat, campus humor magazine, should report to the Wildcat office in the sub-basement of McVey hall, between 2 and 4 o'clock this afternoon, John Ed Pearce, editor, has announced.

Positions are open as staff writers, cartoonists, advertising salesmen, circulation managers, and makeup designers. Those who apply and work conscientiously this year will receive good-paying positions next year, Pearce said.

No Union Dance

Because of the football game in Louisville there will be no dance tomorrow night at the Union building, Ben Johnson, student director of the SUB, has announced.

The next dance will be the Lances' semi-formal November 16 for which the Kentucky State Collegians, Frankfort orchestra, has been booked.

Pavilion Dance Set For Tonight

An all-agriculture dance, sponsored by Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics fraternity, and Alpha Zeta, honorary agriculture fraternity, will be held from 7:30 to 10 p. m., today, at the Stock Judging pavilion. Admission will be 25 cents per couple or stag.

Student Body Will Okie To Louisville To See UK Eleven Wreck Georgia Tech In duPont Manual Stadium Tomorrow

PEP RALLIES SLATED TONIGHT

Local Stage Show
Louisville Dance,
Parade On Tap

By BUSH BROOKE

If pre-game enthusiasm and moral support mean anything to a football team, the Cat's should roll through Georgia Tech in the Louisville brawl tomorrow at du Pont Manual stadium without much trouble, because giant pep rallies will be held tonight on two fronts.

Students, alumni, and Wildcat fans are expected to swarm all over Louisville's downtown section for the parade and pep rally there tonight. The perennial exodus to the Falls City from the campus will begin this afternoon via thumb, automobile, and other means of locomotion for the night's festivities. The special SuKy train will leave tomorrow morning after second hour classes.

Student Books Good

Student Ticket Books will be honored only at gate 4 on South Pine, S. E. "Daddy" Boles, graduate manager of the team, has announced.

The "Best Band in Dixie" will embark by chartered buses at 3 p. m. today to form the vanguard of the local invasion to take up where last year's Georgia jamboree ended. A huge parade will march through downtown Louisville, climaxing in a SuKy rally at Lincoln Park and Fourth Street.

The fires will be kept gleaming on the home front with a modified SuKy session at the College Night Stage Jamboree tonight at 9 p. m. on the stage of the Ben All theater with Bill Cross and his orchestra. Half of the SuKy cheering corps, Dorothy Beeler, Mary Hayworth, Russell, Gresham, and Ken Dutton, will lead cheers from the stage. Sam Ewing, SuKy president, will be interviewed.

Cheerleaders making the journey to Louisville are Roland Lamb, Virginia Wesley, Peaches Snyder, and Gerald Scheffer.

Falls City Ready

The Falls City began putting out the welcome mat and nailing down the storm shutters for the week-end hurricane Thursday night at the Downtown Quarterback meeting. Color films of the Alabama-Kentucky debacle were illustrated with talks by Head Coach Ab Kirwan, Athletic Director Bernie Shively, and Frank Mosely, end mentor.

At the stage jamboree here, Bill Cross and his orchestra, featuring Betty Wells Roberts, arts and science junior, in the solo role, will play. Main attractions of the evening will be a campus hit parade (Continued on Page Three)

Student Injured Extinguishing Fire In Neville Hall

Eddie Jackson, third year law student, suffered a severe cut on his right hand while crashing a window to extinguish a fire of unknown origin which broke out around 10 o'clock Wednesday night in Neville hall.

After breaking the window, Jones climbed into the building and put out the fire with an extinguisher. The fire caused only slight damage. Jackson was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital where four stitches were taken in his hand.

SWIMMING TEAM MEMBERS NAMED

12 Newcomers
On Varsity Squad

By VINCENT CROWDUS

Although this year's crop of Wildcat swimmers is not expected to set the world on fire with its conquests, it is moulting the foundation of a squad which it confidently expects to be Southeastern conference champions within another year.

This year, for the first time since the University has been represented in the water sport, a freshman team was organized, callisthenic training was introduced, and practice was started two months earlier than usual.

Intensive practice gets underway at 8:30 p. m., today, in the Lexington YWCA pool, when the 18 candidates selected from the varsity squad report for a splash session. This year's squad will be built around six veterans, Henry Hulenmeyer, Gilbert Wymond, and "Steamboat" Reid, freestylers; Houston Curtis and Letelle Stephenson, divers; and Gene Riddell, breaststroker.

Newcomers Listed

Newcomers are Harold Theobald, Edward Long, Ben Johnson, Richard P. Sroll, Granville Coblin, Rec Laine, Joe Bohm, Bud Baum, Walter McCarrell, Gus Hank, Jimmie Ham, and Billy Smith, Valerium.

The frosh team, which will also report for practice tonight, consists of Marion Van Arsdell, Arthur Wallace Francis, Kenneth Replair, "Duke" Nickerson, William C. Caywood, John David George Walker, Claud Emrich, William C. Ledford, J. Pryor Hancock, Oscar Wright, James G. Hicks, and Martin Schwartz, who is also trainer of the varsity and freshman teams.

Training sessions will be held each Friday and Tuesday for both squads. Because of limited pool facilities all candidates who turned out for the teams will not practice on these two days. Members not listed above and anyone else wishing to tryout will report for practice at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Schwartz said.

CATS THIRSTING FOR VENGEANCE

Wildcat Eleven
In Good Physical,
Mental Shape

Eager to cash a winner's ticket after two victory-lean weeks, Kentucky's snarling Wildcats tugged at the leash as they awaited anxiously their hour of opportunity tomorrow when they will collide with Bill Alexander's Ramblin' Wrecks from Georgia Tech on Louisville's duPont Manual field.

Despite the fact that they have not cashed a winning ticket in two weeks, the Cats enter the Tech fracas tomorrow with what Coach Kirwan terms a "good attitude", adding that his crew will be in a "lot better physical condition."

After taking a severe 23-0 wallop last Saturday from Alabama, Kentucky has recovered quickly mentally and physically, and are on edge as they wait to avenge the 13-7 defeat that the Technicians handed them last season down in the Scarlet O'Hara city. The Tech defeat and the Tennessee loss were the only blemishes on the Kentucky record last year.

Rivalry Is Old One

This Tech-Kentucky rivalry is not a new one. In fact, Coach Ab Kirwan was the star end of the 1923 Kentucky team that tied the Southerners 3-3. Since then, Kentucky has won three, Tech, four. Since Kirwan has been at Kentucky, he hasn't fared so well with the Alexander men. In his first year at the Kentucky helm, in 1938, his boys dropped a close 19-18 decision and last year, after spending a sleepless night before the game, he emerged a loser—13-6. While enroute to Atlanta last year, the Kentucky special train had a wreck in Etawah, Tenn., delaying their entrance into the city six and a half hours.

Cats In Good Shape

The Cats, who have been badly hindered by injuries so far this year will enter the game in almost top physical form. Kentucky's two regular tackles, Captain John Elbert and "Sully" Jacobs, after being sidelined last week with (Continued on Page Three)

DEBATING TEAM TO BE SELECTED

Applicants To Meet
Today At 3 P. M.

Organization of the University debating team will be held at 3 p. m. today, room 231 McVey hall, according to an announcement by Prof. W. R. Sutherland, director.

The debating team, numbering from eight to ten students is selected by a judging committee. Both men and women are eligible for membership, however few girls even take part, Professor Sutherland said.

There has been one all-girl team in the history of the University, but it didn't meet with much success. According to Prof. Sutherland, "when girls debate among themselves they get past the debating stage and become quarrelsome." So to avoid harpunning and tears no further female teams have been organized.

Six Meets Stated

The subject for intercollegiate debate this year is, "Resolved: That the nations of the Western Hemisphere should enter into a permanent union." On the tentative program for 1940-41 are debates with University of Louisville, Johns Hopkins, Berea, Center, Danville and Georgetown.

In Your Liberal Education

Those who have made it a habit in seasons past to attend the Sunday afternoon musicals in Memorial hall know already the exceptionally high quality of the programs presented and the artists who present them. They know also that each year at least four of these artists are persons of national repute in music circles.

It is to those who have never been to one of the concerts, and so are not as yet aware of these things, that we address these words: you really don't know what you have missed and are missing.

You who have never gone to a Sunday musical because you could not find the time—even though you would have liked to go and mean to all the while—would do well to give up one of your other time-takers and follow your first instinct. Even studies, we maintain, should be relegated to second place in favor of an afternoon of Memorial hall's music, for certainly the type of music played and sung there contributes every bit as much to a liberal education as do physics and English and political science and Greek. And these concerts, we hasten to point out, come so seldom as compared with classes in the above named fields.

As for you who have never been because you think you would not like the so-called "classical" music, we can only say: why don't you try it just once? It may not have the "drive" of Bunny Berrigan or the "solidness" of Jimmy Dorsey, but in the main, it's infinitely more satisfying—and it doesn't change every three weeks, either.

This year, it appears, is an especially good one for you to make your start, for the program of events is of even better quality than usual. Sunday for example, Arthur Kent, youthful baritone of the Metropolitan Opera association, will be guest artist. Other nationally known musicians are Edwina Eustis, New York mezzo-soprano, who will appear on December 8; Ida Krichlin, young Chicago pianist, who will play January 19; and Anatol Kaminsky, 20-year-old violinist from New York, scheduled as the main attraction for February 16.

In addition, there will from time to time be presented the outstanding University musical organizations, such as the UK Philharmonic, the University Choristers (who will present a Christmas Carol program), the UK Sinfonietta and Concert band, and the Men's and Women's Glee clubs.

It's a fine schedule of events, and because we think you'll like them, we urge you to sample them occasionally. And, like peanuts, we think you'll find you can't stop at one.

Organizations, Citizens Are Sensing
Dangers Implied By Michigan Case

By ALLEN E. WINER

(This is the third in a series of articles on Michigan Case. The fourth and concluding article will appear Tuesday.)

Democratic citizens and organizations throughout the nation have been quick to sense the dangerous implications of the Michigan dismissals. Professor Edward A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, "father of American sociology," expressed the keynote of the various messages of protest when he wrote President Ruthven:

"As President of the American Civil Liberties Union I feel impelled to make an observation, or two concerning the recent barring from your University without hearing of the graduate student Hugo Reichard. I have occupied a chair in five American universities . . . three of these state universities . . . for forty-six years and I cannot recall a single instance of a well-behaved, industrious, mature student being barred from re-entry because of his views on public questions. This student insists that defect in moral character is not the cause of his treatment. If it is, the public hearing he asks for would prove most damaging to him, so I am disposed to accept his contention.

"I have always supposed that 'academic freedom' relates to the teacher's freedom of utterance, the student's freedom never having been challenged in my time. If the Reichard case is set up as a precedent for driving away from the university a student on account of his disapproved views, a truly appalling vista is opened. In a decade we might have thousands of eager, inquiring young people barred from our institutions of higher learning because at a certain stage of their intellectual development they had entertained opinions which the authorities found unacceptable. This happened in the

Is Not Patriotism

You can't get away from it.

It screams at you from the newspapers every morning at breakfast and blares out from the billboards on the way to school. You turn on the radio and pick up a magazine and are deluged with it. You seek refuge at the movies, and it jumps at you from the silver screen.

It is increasingly evident on the other hand that the nation is becoming more fascistic each day. It is a naive brand of fascism, to be sure, but dangerous in its guise of "Americanism." The current surge of pseudo-patriotism is the most obvious and glaring aspect of the whole vicious process. It is almost impossible to walk down the street nowadays without being confronted with the heterogeneous barrage of American flags decorating store windows, adorning windshields, and even embellishing the common garb in the form of lapel jewelry . . .

Now all this emotional fervor in itself is harmless enough and could even be beneficial if it were of such a nature as to inspire true patriotism and a real devotion to the ideals of the democratic way of life.

But on the whole it has precisely the opposite effect . . . We are becoming less broad-minded and more dogmatic, less tolerant and more bigoted, less considerate of the rights of minorities and more blinded by the vicious contagion of fanaticism and the mob madness of minority persecution.

This is the "patriotism" that has insured the mob violence against such harmless minority groups as Jehovah's Witnesses.

This is the "patriotism" that is depriving the voter of full freedom of choice by striking a minority party from the ballot and has compelled the purging of professors and students from the university for their political views.

This is the "patriotism" that accuses a person of being a Nazi propagandist if he exercises his constitutional right of disagreeing with the majority.

This is the "patriotism" which, if it continues unabated, may bring about in America the very conditions against which we are arming.

The dark tide of American fascism is rising rapidly. Let every lover of liberty speak out against it before it engulfs all we cherish.

universities under the Tsars and we know the result in creating an embittered revolutionary intelligentsia."

Professor George E. Axtelle of Northwestern University wrote:

"It is a profound tragedy when the guardians of our education and intelligence in a democratic society play the role of dictator and reaction when they deny to young people access to public educational institutions because of their social beliefs. Instead of cultivating the enthusiasm and idealism of youth, they seem to feel that their beliefs will prevail against all the status and learning of the institution itself."

Reverend Owen A. Knox, chairman of the National Civil Rights Conference, issued a statement declaring:

"By barring from the University of Michigan those whose ideas on how democracy may best be preserved differ from his, Dr. Ruthven has shown that he is not willing to uphold those cornerstones of democracy, freedom of speech and freedom of the press, which he concedes in words to be 'meaningful.' Dr. Ruthven himself is attempting to confuse the issue of sophistry in labeling those whose opinions he does not like 'radicals' or 'fifth columnists' with the implication that such people are somehow exempted from the guarantees of the Bill of Rights."

We print these letters as evidence that the events at Michigan have created much antagonism all over the country, and that what is happening at Ann Arbor is not a private affair but has become the concern of millions of Americans. And until Dr. Ruthven grants an open, fair hearing to those dismissed students he must bear the criticism of the people.

McVey Hall Drive at Noon: Scene of
Some 60-m.p.h. Broken-field Running

The Vice Of The People

By MARIANNE HEWITT

With most everybody practically recovered from last week-end and the harrowing outcome of our Homecoming game, eyebrows are raised toward the prospect of the coming event in Louisville. Looks like UK plans to storm the old town.

And if the inhabitants are smart, they'll either hibernate or migrate.

Scott Breckinridge took his appendix to the hospital about ten days ago and left it there. Apparently the loss suffered wasn't a great one—he was up and coming five days later. All of which meant that Helen Babbitt underwent the social life with another man Saturday night.

Gene Ray Crawford and Leonard Greathouse have put the finishing touches on their beautiful romance—they are what is so commonly known as quits. Jack Taylor, Delta Tau Delta pledge, isn't wasting any time in gathering up the debris, either.

Bill Drummy leaves this week for Fort Benning in Georgia to heed the call of Uncle Sam. Condolences extended to Shirley Thomas and Mary Joy Shupert.

Betty Hur, freshman of last year, finds Ohio State lacking in whatever Kentucky has to make it wonderful. She's living in Westminster Hall, a church dorm, and is required to go to devotional services every day. Could that possibly be the reason?

Edna Herring and Layton Rouse plan old home week this week-end in Louisville. We wondered if he was still in the running.

Bernice Daugherty really is a book-worm on this subject of Geology. She leaves no branch of this field unstudied—Saturday night even found her having a date with one of the assistant profs.

Paul Combs was the personification of an Ipana toothpaste advertisement when he had a date with Jane Taylor from Frankfort over the week-end.

Pilly Hopewell, Deit, put the pin on Dr. Sill's Tuesday night and all day Wednesday was passing out cigars with "Have a Smoke to Dorothy Sills" printed on them. Congrats—And all best wishes to Mary Louise Weisenberger and Gopher Martin.

He gave her an engagement ring Tuesday night.

Bob Plaggett's heart has started beating for Peggy Shumate these days. They're going to the Louisville game together this week-end.

Sara Reveli Estill had a progressive date Saturday night. It started out with George Scott and when he was incapacitated, along came someone else to carry on, and then when he was incapacitated, along came someone else, and when he was incapacitated, along came four others who took her home. There MUST be safety in numbers.

Tom Sawyer is still looking for the little Sukey boy who blacked his eye over the week-end.

Betty Reese had a visitor for the Homecoming, who went by the provincial name of Pricilla Standish. Owen Cox, proving that history repeats itself, did a good job of speaking for himself.

Loretta Funk and SAE Bobbie Stone have made up all their differences of the past week. Now what will we talk about?

The Music Committee provides a wonderful background for the beginning of a beautiful friendship. Ben Johnson made good use of the excuse that he had to have some vital information from Ann Kirk which, incidentally, she had already given him. Results? They had a date. Connie Richmond and Bill Boston are still going steady.

Doty Nickerson, Chi O, was the reason Carlyle Weiler came up from Alabama last week-end. This week-end Bill Raymond will entertain a Georgia Cracker. Interstate cooperation carries on.

However, the two regulars may find it a bit tough to crash back into the lineup. During their absence, Kirwan turned up with two surprises. Larry Spears, who, started the season on the third squad, found himself in the Georgia and Alabama game and turned in two splendid jobs. The big fellow is scheduled to start in place of Captain Elbner.

The other surprise tackle is big Clyde Johnson. Johnson had been relegated to the Z clubbers until Jacobs and Elbner were benched with injuries. Kirwan, in dire need of a good tackle, recalled Johnson and every since then, he has been in there.

Another surprise in the Kentucky backfield tomorrow will be Billy Black who will alternate with Noah Mullins. Back, also a third-stringer when the season started, has displayed some nice running, with an average of six yards per try.

No Magic Planned

Word from the Tech camp indicated that they will do away with their "hot magic" tomorrow. Like the Kentuckians, they have been slapped around freely in their last two encounters. Auburn halting them 16-7 and Duke smearing them all over North Carolina, 41-6, last week.

The Kentucky squad will leave here 6:30 this evening for Louisville. While in the Derby City, the Cats will stay at the Seelbach hotel. Kentucky's starting lineup should be something like this tomorrow. Hardin and Denham at the flank positions; Johnson and Spears filling in at tackle; Willoughby and Palmer in the guard slots, and Joe Bailey at the center post. Jones will be the starting quarterback. Ishmael at full, and Zoeller and Mullins at the halves.

Running Wild

By ROY STEINFORT

Bill Alexander's version of how the late Harry Houdini would have coached a football eleven will be displayed in Louisville's du Pont stadium tomorrow with the Kentucky Wildcats being offered as "stooge."

The veteran creator of "hot magic" at Georgia Tech may find the "bait" a little tough to work his sleight-of-hand tricks on this year, though. For the Cats last season received a goodly portion of Alexander's razzle-dazzle and remember vividly just how it feels to be made a goat.

When Bobby Dodd, the Tech backfield mentor, attempted to explain in an after-season movie the plays that defeated Kentucky, he got them all balled up, just to prove that the coaches can't always explain the action of the Ramblin' Wrecks.

Elementary Stuff, Bill Says

But according to Coach Bill it is very simple. "All we have is a chunker, a reverse and an end-around play. The chunker is little Johnny Bosch, the star on the end-around is Bob Ison and the bird that makes the whole thing work is Ralph Plasters, fullback.

Here's How It Goes

(1) Plasters takes a pass from center, turns his back on the enemy and stands there nonchalantly, arms down at his side looking to neither the right nor left. (2) The tailback speeds past him, grabs the ball, folds his arm and runs as hard as he can outside the strong side tackle. (3) The wingback takes the ball from Plasters and gallops around the weak side, with a blocker popping out ahead of each runner. (4) Plasters runs straight back as if to pass, holding the ball out of sight. Three plays are now moving at once and the opposition is going screwy. (5) After much delay, the enemy decides the wingback has the ball and starts after him. But much to their surprise the tailback, who grabbed the ball first, (6) now actually has it and (7) is galloping past the yard stripes like the Chicago Night Express whistling past telephone poles.

And Here's The Secret

"The secret of the play," Alexander explains, "is to get the opposition to take one step too many in the wrong direction. When he discovers his mistake, it's too late."

Whee, I'm going nuts trying to explain this. It sounds complicated on paper, so it must be plenty tough to decipher on a football field.

Word from the land of Scarlet O'Hara informs us that Alexander may have to leave his hokus-pokus in Atlanta and turn back to straight football. The Yellow Jackets took a beating last Saturday at the hands of Duke, and reports are that Alexander has been having secret practice this week to perfect some power plays. The veteran coach has made two major changes in his set-up for certain. Hawk Cavette, 200-pound guard, has been moved to halfback along with Bob Ison, end, who has been switched to the backfield.

We saw Auburn cool Tech three weeks ago with a 16-7 win. Tech, compared with last year, was a lot slower. Their pass offensive doesn't function as fast; they're weak on reserve strength. All of which adds up to a Kentucky victory tomorrow. Maybe it will only be by a touchdown, but it's going to be a win for the rejuvenated Cats.

Women's Sports

By JEAN WILLIAMS

The UK-Transy WAA hockey meet postponed because of rain will be played at 3:30 Monday afternoon on the University field located between the Union building and the football practice field.

This is the first hockey meet of the year, and plans are being made to compete with other WAA teams throughout the state. Only one game was played last year by the University team, and that resulted in a victory over Centre college.

When the University WAA was first organized in 1922, only four sports were offered to the sports-women. They included soccer, baseball, hiking, and track. At the present time, the Association program includes fifteen different sporting events.

Hockey is the major WAA sport today and is managed by Doris Reichenbach and Doris Settle. In the first few years of athletics for women on the UK campus, basketball was the varsity sport.

Referees for Monday's game, which will be open to the public.

KITTENS TO PLAY
CINCY FROSH

First Win Sought
By UK Eleven

Coach Gene Meyers and seventeen Kitten squad members will journey to Cincinnati today to tangle with the University of Cincinnati Frosh in their second encounter of the season.

The Kittens will be out for their initial win as they were defeated 13 to 0 by a potent Vandy Frosh eleven in their first and only game.

"If we play as good a game against the Cincinnati Frosh as we did against the Vandy yearlings, we will win with ease," stated Coach Gene Meyers yesterday; even though he had only one full team and four reserves available for duty. Coach Meyers was very well pleased with the Kittens' showing against Vandy, despite the 13 to 0 loss.

The following reserves will make the trip: Iani, tackle; Sandy, end; Specius, back and Nuekols, back. Two other backs, Hoover and Ewing, will make the trip, but definitely will not play because of injuries.

Law Journal Staff
Adds Five Writers

Five legal writers have been added to the staff of the Kentucky Law Journal, according to Prof. Roy Moreland. They are Glenn Denham, Williamsburg; Major Gardner, West Liberty; Robert L. Henry, Lexington; Joe Johnson, Clinton; and John J. Justice, Williamson, W. Va.

The semester's first edition of the journal edited by W. L. Mathews, Jr., will be out Monday. Professor Moreland said, J. Granville Clark is the associate editor, Eugene R. Webb, Managing Editor, and Harry Roberts, Business Editor.

Boxers, Wrestlers
Go Into Training
For Intramurals

To be eligible for participation in the intramural boxing and wrestling tournaments, a student must attend ten class instruction periods under wrestling coach Lewis or boxing coach Winchester, C. W. Haekensmith, head of the intramural department, announced today.

These coaches hold their classes every afternoon in the Gym annex from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. Each contestant must be entered on the roll of this instructor.

Instruction in boxing and wrestling in the required physical education classes will count as credit toward the ten days training, if the contestant notifies the coach. Students who are unable to attend the regular instruction classes are requested to fulfill the requirements.

It is also announced that the entry date has been moved up to 6:00 p. m., November 12, and that the physical examination must be taken at the Dispensary before November 29. All volleyball games scheduled for November 8 have been postponed until November 13.

Bacteriologists

Dr. Morris Scherago, head of the bacteriological department, was elected president of the Kentucky branch of the Society of American Bacteriologists at a dinner-meeting recently.

Other officers elected at this second annual meeting, attended by approximately 100 bacteriologists, were Dr. W. D. Valleau, of the plant pathology department, vice-president; and W. H. Stark, member of the research department of a Louisville distillery, secretary.
